Congratulations to members of the graduating class!

There are exciting times ahead! The opportunities for the educated person are expanding rapidly. Education comes through formal training and through the experiences of everyday life. Education must involve a continuous process throughout life.

Democracy and the American way of life are undergoing very difficult tests in this age of socio-economic and technological explosion. An educated citizenry will aid materially in solving our most vexing problems and in relieving world tension. The educated man has patience, perception, and perseverance. Each person should carefully consider his role in this great drama. Each person should ask himself the question, "Am I a part of the answer, or am I a part of the problem?" The successful and mature individual seeks to make America and the world a better place for himself and his fellowman.

Bernard D. Ryan

A new life is ahead of you—take advantage of every opportunity for advancement while maintaining your dignity and self-respect. Have pride in yourself, your community, and your country.

James A. Coles
Assistant District Prin.

It has been said that youth is confused, that you are searching for answers. I can only wish for you that which I wish for myself: that the search will be rewarding whether or not the answers are found.

Fred Bockian
Director of Curriculum

Dedication

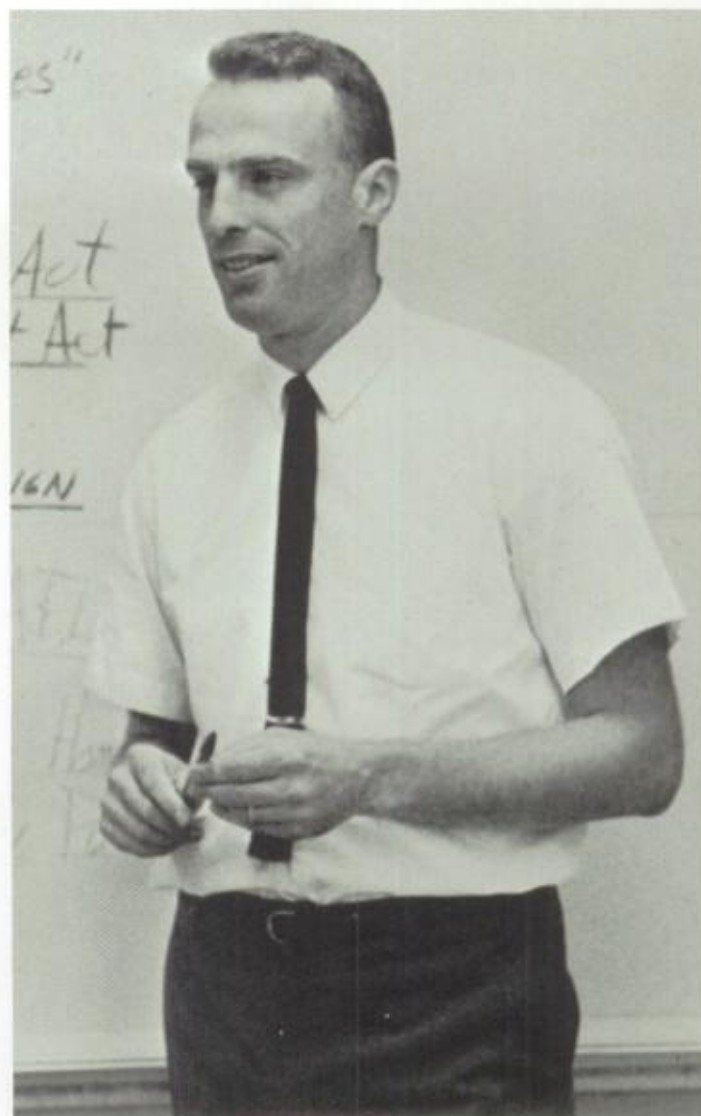

"A friend is a person with whom I may be sincere. Before him, I may think aloud."
—Emerson.

No other statement could more aptly describe our high regard for you, Mr. Donnelly. You have been firm and decisive whenever you found it necessary to show us the "errors of our ways." Yet, though you have frequently had to impose corrective measures to bring us back into line, you have never alienated us from you.

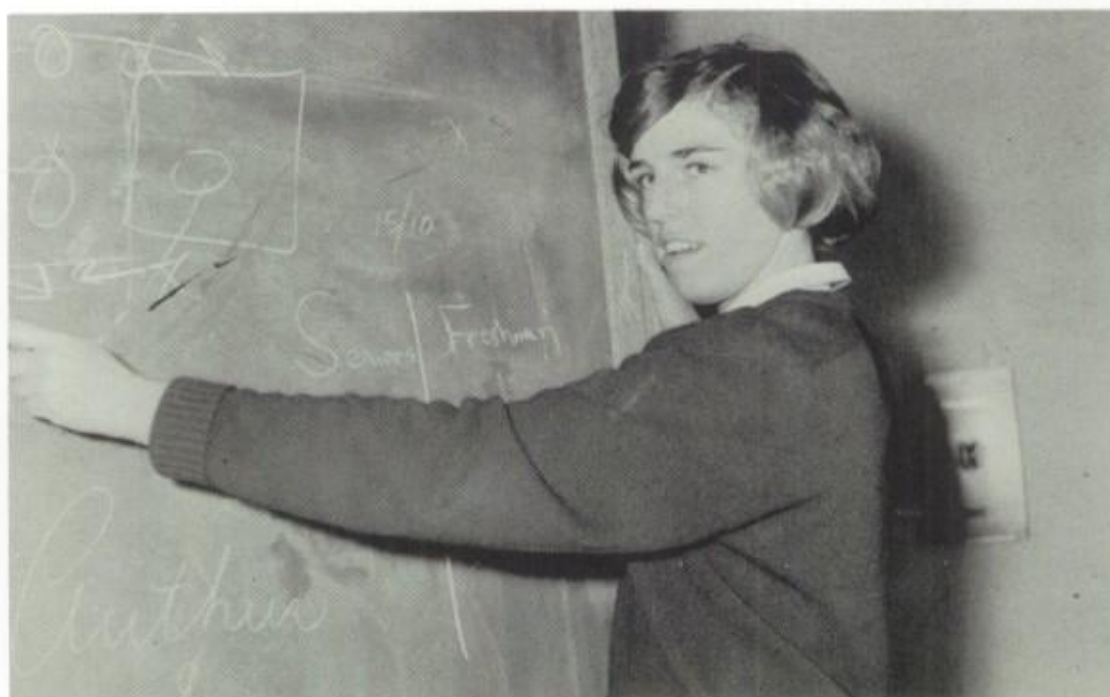

With deep feeling and immeasurable respect, we dedicate our yearbook to you.

In Appreciation . . .

... To Mr. Viertel, for your genuine effort to mold us as individuals by helping us to learn to think more effectively and to make wiser decisions for ourselves. Your ability to constantly place problems in their proper perspective and to react to every situation in a serious, yet congenial, manner has encouraged us to do the same. For this, we will always be thankful and hold you, Mr. Viertel, in our highest esteem.

... To Miss Shanks, who has quietly and conscientiously encouraged and inspired immediate goals. Your enthusiasm, understanding, and cheerful personality which has earned the respect of your students and fellow teachers alike, will always be cherished by us.

Administration

"Ours is the only country deliberately founded on a good idea."

John Gunther

Q - Remember?

To: Class of 1968

Thank you for the opportunity to write a personal message in your Colonial.

Surely as you leaf through these pages on various sad and happy moments of your lives, you will be choked with emotion. Your mental camera will focus on your teachers, your classmates, and your friends. At times your screen will become fuzzy, but with a little adjustment, become sharp again! You will be seeing the same events—only as years go by, interpreting them a little bit differently each time. You will have matured—and your values will have changed—as well as your vision—for you will be able to see “deeper” into the machinations of human behavior. You will be amazed at your “adolescent blindness.” You will probably wonder how you ever survived! And lest you became disturbed, this has been true of every adolescent generation as observed by Aristotle (384-322 B.C.).

Your generation has been full of hope and prosperity, mixed with the despair and hurt brought about through a continuum of hot and cold wars. You have been raised with television and jet flights which have served to bring the boundaries of our world closer together, yet at the same time, you have been threatened by an engulfment of Russian and Chinese Communism. Our hemispheres once distinguished by meridian lines are now scorched by political ideologies—Democracy as opposed to Communism.

Within our own nation, we have been engaged in a dialogue about “truth”: Truth about poverty, about civil liberties, about war, about labor, about government, about drugs.

I submit our greatest concern, however, is not to be tempted, nor distracted, by material objects. All of these things we knowingly must leave behind to either eventually decay, pass into obscurity, or be repossessed by another mortal and then another. The strongest and most persistent winds, however, have never been able to wither away “a good man’s name.”

As you live your daily lives, ask yourselves:

1. Would I be “proud” to tell my parents of what I have done?
2. Would my parents be “proud” to tell others of what I have done?
3. And lastly, what of my “Maker”—Will He be “proud” to receive me?

Fellow Students—the breath of life on earth is but a mere gasp. Ahead of us must lie the eternal fulfillment.

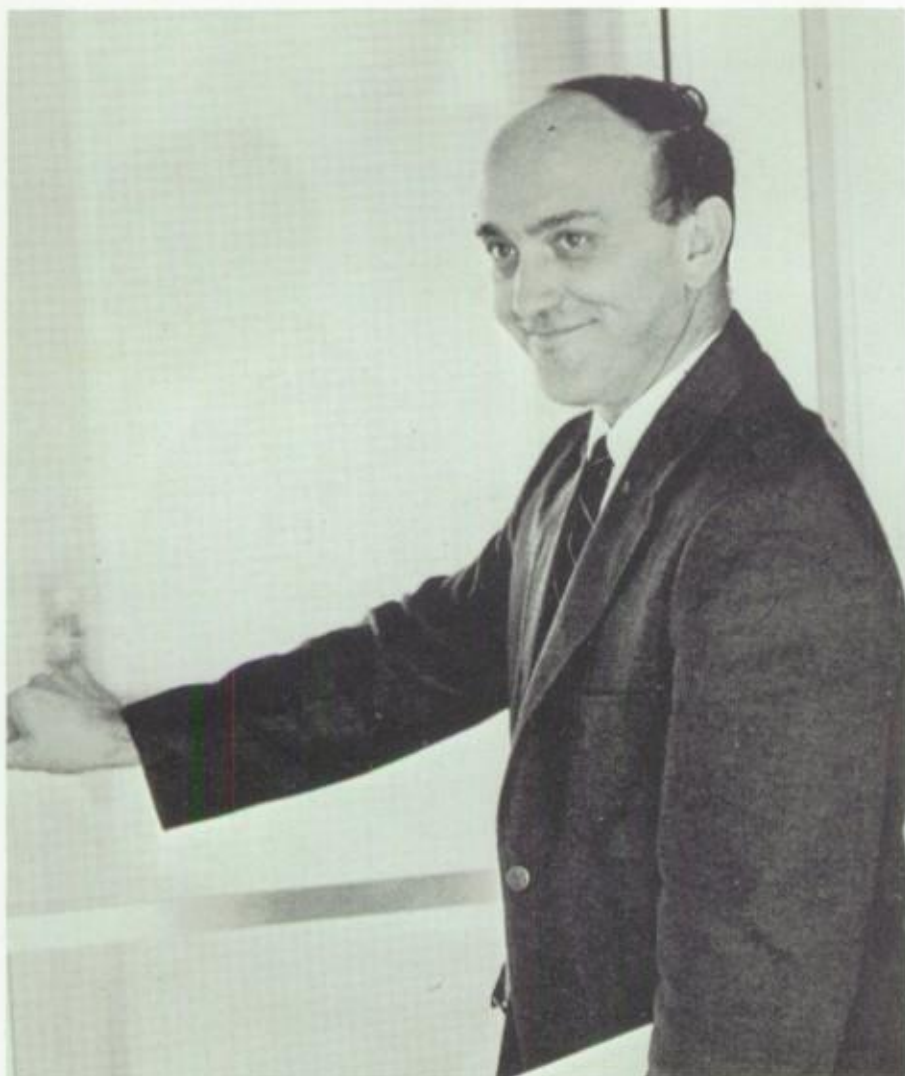

I close with the blessing of the faculty—to you, our youth of today, parents and responsible citizens of tomorrow.

God’s countenance be upon you and for those who see Him.

Your principal,

Mr. Chris Crespa

Congratulations to the Senior Class of 1968. Look to your future! Your opportunities are boundless; your responsibilities awesome. Never before has youth had such variety of purpose in life. Your ability to set worthy goals and make proper decisions will determine tomorrow—your tomorrow.

"In acquiring knowledge there is one thing equally important, and that is character. Nothing in the ... world is worth so much, will last so long, and serve its possessor so well as character."

—William McKinley

The statement printed above fully expresses my sentiments on the importance of acquiring knowledge and developing character.

May "the luck of the Irish" be yours too.

A black and white photograph of Independence Hall in Philadelphia. The building is a large, dark brick structure with a prominent white clock tower and a dome topped with a spire. In the foreground, to the right, is a statue of a man in 18th-century attire, standing on a large, tiered stone pedestal. The name "BARRY" is visible on the front of the pedestal. Several people are walking in the square in front of the building, and trees are visible on the left and right sides.

Student Council

This year the Student Council has had one of its most successful years in Floyd history. It has aided in the formation of a Junior High Council permitting these individuals a voice in student affairs. Another innovation was the booking of noted entertainers for the school dances. This move resulted in well-attended dances that provided profits substantial enough to provide free bus transportation to all games away from school. These accomplishments were largely due to the creative planning of Ray Brylski, Student Council president.

Senior Chorus

"We don't fool around . . .

. . . When Mr. Chun is looking!"

Director: Mr. Frederick Chun

The Senior Chorus performs at most school concerts during the school year, adding immeasurably to student enjoyment of good music. Under the capable direction of Mr. Chun, it has distinguished itself in the rendition of sacred and secular songs of the world, particularly at the Christmas and Spring Concerts.

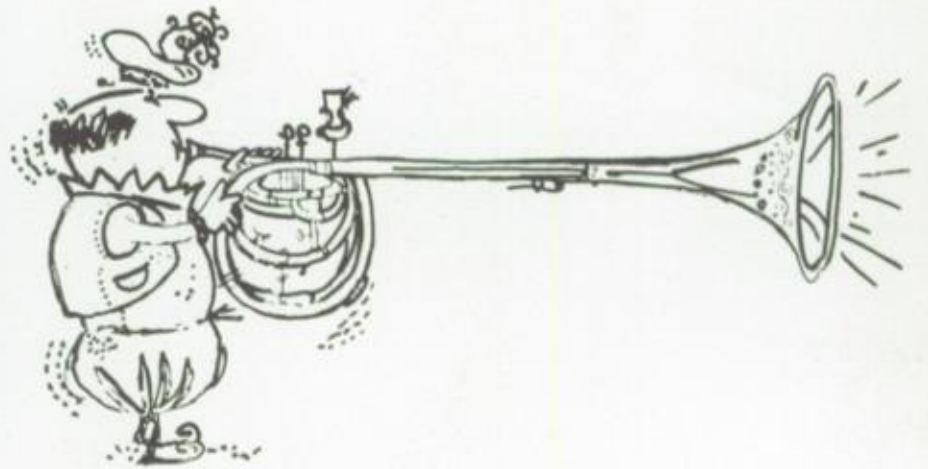

This year a select group of girls was chosen to sing as members of a separate choral group. The extra time and effort they put in has pleased both their listeners and Mr. Chun, a most demanding taskmaster.

The Key Club, concerned with the continuing development of high moral standards as well as the leadership qualities of our high school male student, has increased the amount of service it can provide to the members of our community this year. Some of the planned activities include participation in the local March of Dimes drive and a canned food campaign for the needy. It has also expanded its policy of service to include a trip to the Cerebral Palsy Telethon in New York City where the boys will make themselves helpful as messengers, telephone clerks, etc.

Bruce Kriete
President

Literary Club

Mrs. Hoff, Moderator

The students to whom the Muses speak find in the publication of the Literary Club Magazine an outlet for their creative labors. Membership is not required of students who just wish to submit articles for consideration. However, membership is required for students who want a working knowledge of how a magazine is published. Membership also develops in students a sense of criticism and literary worth.

Alan Heins Barbara Lee
Moderators

The F.T.A., under the supervision of Mrs. Lee and Mr. Heins, have engaged in a program designed to assist the district's elementary teachers with their classroom routines. This type of active involvement has made them aware of the responsibilities and rewards of the teaching profession. It has also made them more determined to become teachers.

Miss Sue Daye
Moderator

The Future Homemakers of America, a national association, is interested in perfecting the art of homemaking by actual practice. Proficiency in modern techniques of homemaking is developed by encouraging its members to work on a sewing project for the year. In addition, the girls bake cookies and cakes on St. Valentine's Day for the elderly patients of the Cedar Lodge Rest Home.

Spanish Club

Moderator: Mr. Dean Velsor

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to advance the appreciation of Spanish culture, past and present. Trips to inexpensive restaurants featuring authentic menus indigenous to the various regions of Spain are arranged by Mr. Velsor, its moderator. During the Christmas season, the traditional breaking of the pinata is a scheduled, and much enjoyed, activity.

French Club

Marie Simone
Moderator

The French Club which is always looking for new ways to advance the appreciation of French culture and to open passageways to lingual vocations has become a most active group.

This year the club presented a truly interesting display of French art posters and artifacts. In addition, the club sang French carols and made beautiful inscribed cards for the Christmas season.

Among their future plans is a trip to New York City where they will visit museums and dine at a fine French restaurant.

Italian Club

The Italian Club introduces members to the fascinating aspects of contemporary Italian cultures. Films and slides are shown at meetings to point out the similarities, as well as differences, between our cultures. Open-house, offering many tasty tid-bits, is one of the most popular events of the school year.

Latin Club

The Latin Club stresses the lasting influence that Roman thought and culture has had on Western civilization. Each autumn, posters, sculpture, and models of famous Roman buildings are displayed in the library to emphasize the beauty that was Rome. On the Ides of March, there is a dramatic re-enactment of Caesar's assassination.

This year the Latin Club, interested in striving for new goals, will put on an authentic Olympics with its members performing in events popular in Roman days:

LEADERS CLUB

Promoting fair play and sportsmanship at all times is the ideal that Miss Shanks infuses in the girls who are members of the Leaders Club. The initiative shown by these girls this year is indeed a credit to Miss Shanks' ability to lead and to instruct the girls to assist her in all phases of physical education.

MRS. JOY ROGERS
Moderator

Library Club

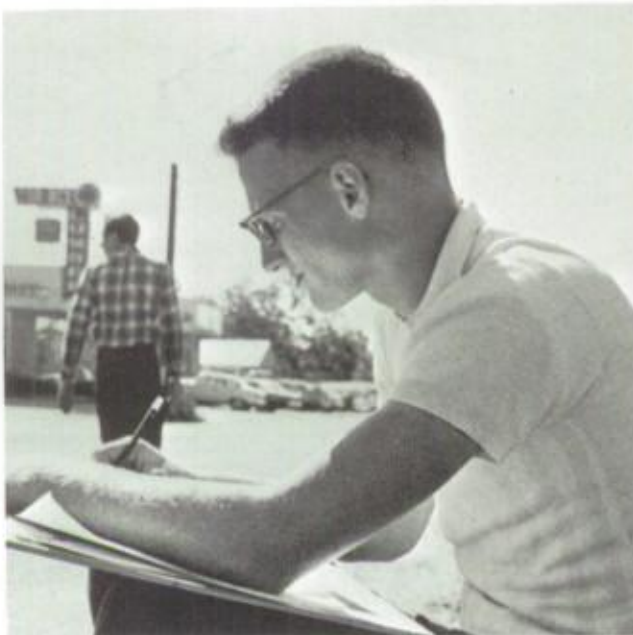

Library Club members are responsible for shelving books, typing late notices, and processing books under the supervision of the librarian. They are hosts at faculty teas held whenever new books are displayed. They, also, plan trips to local libraries to learn new methods of providing greater service to the students.

Without art, the world would truly be unbearable. To instill a love for beauty in every day life is the primary purpose of an art club. With the aid of Mr. Kish, the art club members are led to an appreciation of art in its many forms.

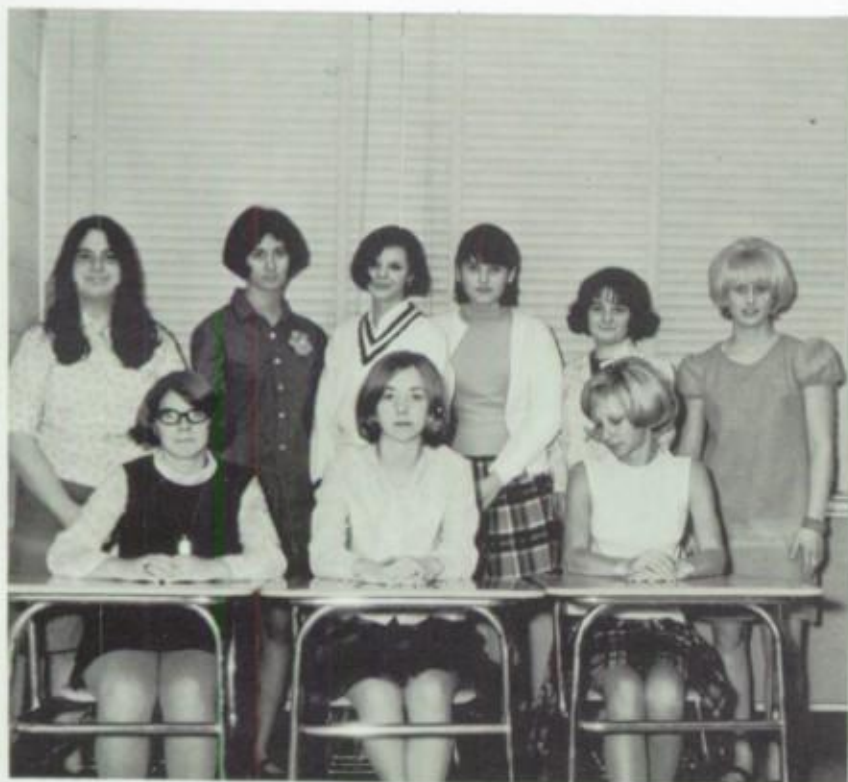

One of the most eagerly awaited events of the school year is the Art Fair. Displayed at the Fair are the many works of the club members. Prominent in this year's exhibition will be the works of Bob Fahie, Colonial art editor.

Art Club

Girls' Athletic Association

The G.A.A is an organization for girls who have successfully participated in at least one major sport during the school year. Class teams engage in an active intramural program which is greatly enjoyed by participants and observers alike.

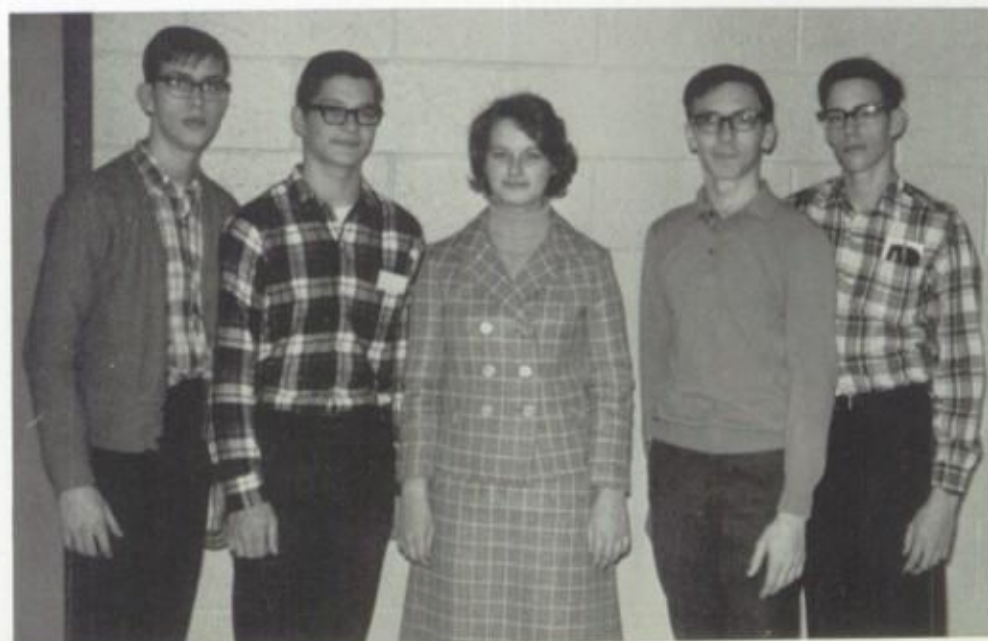

Science Club

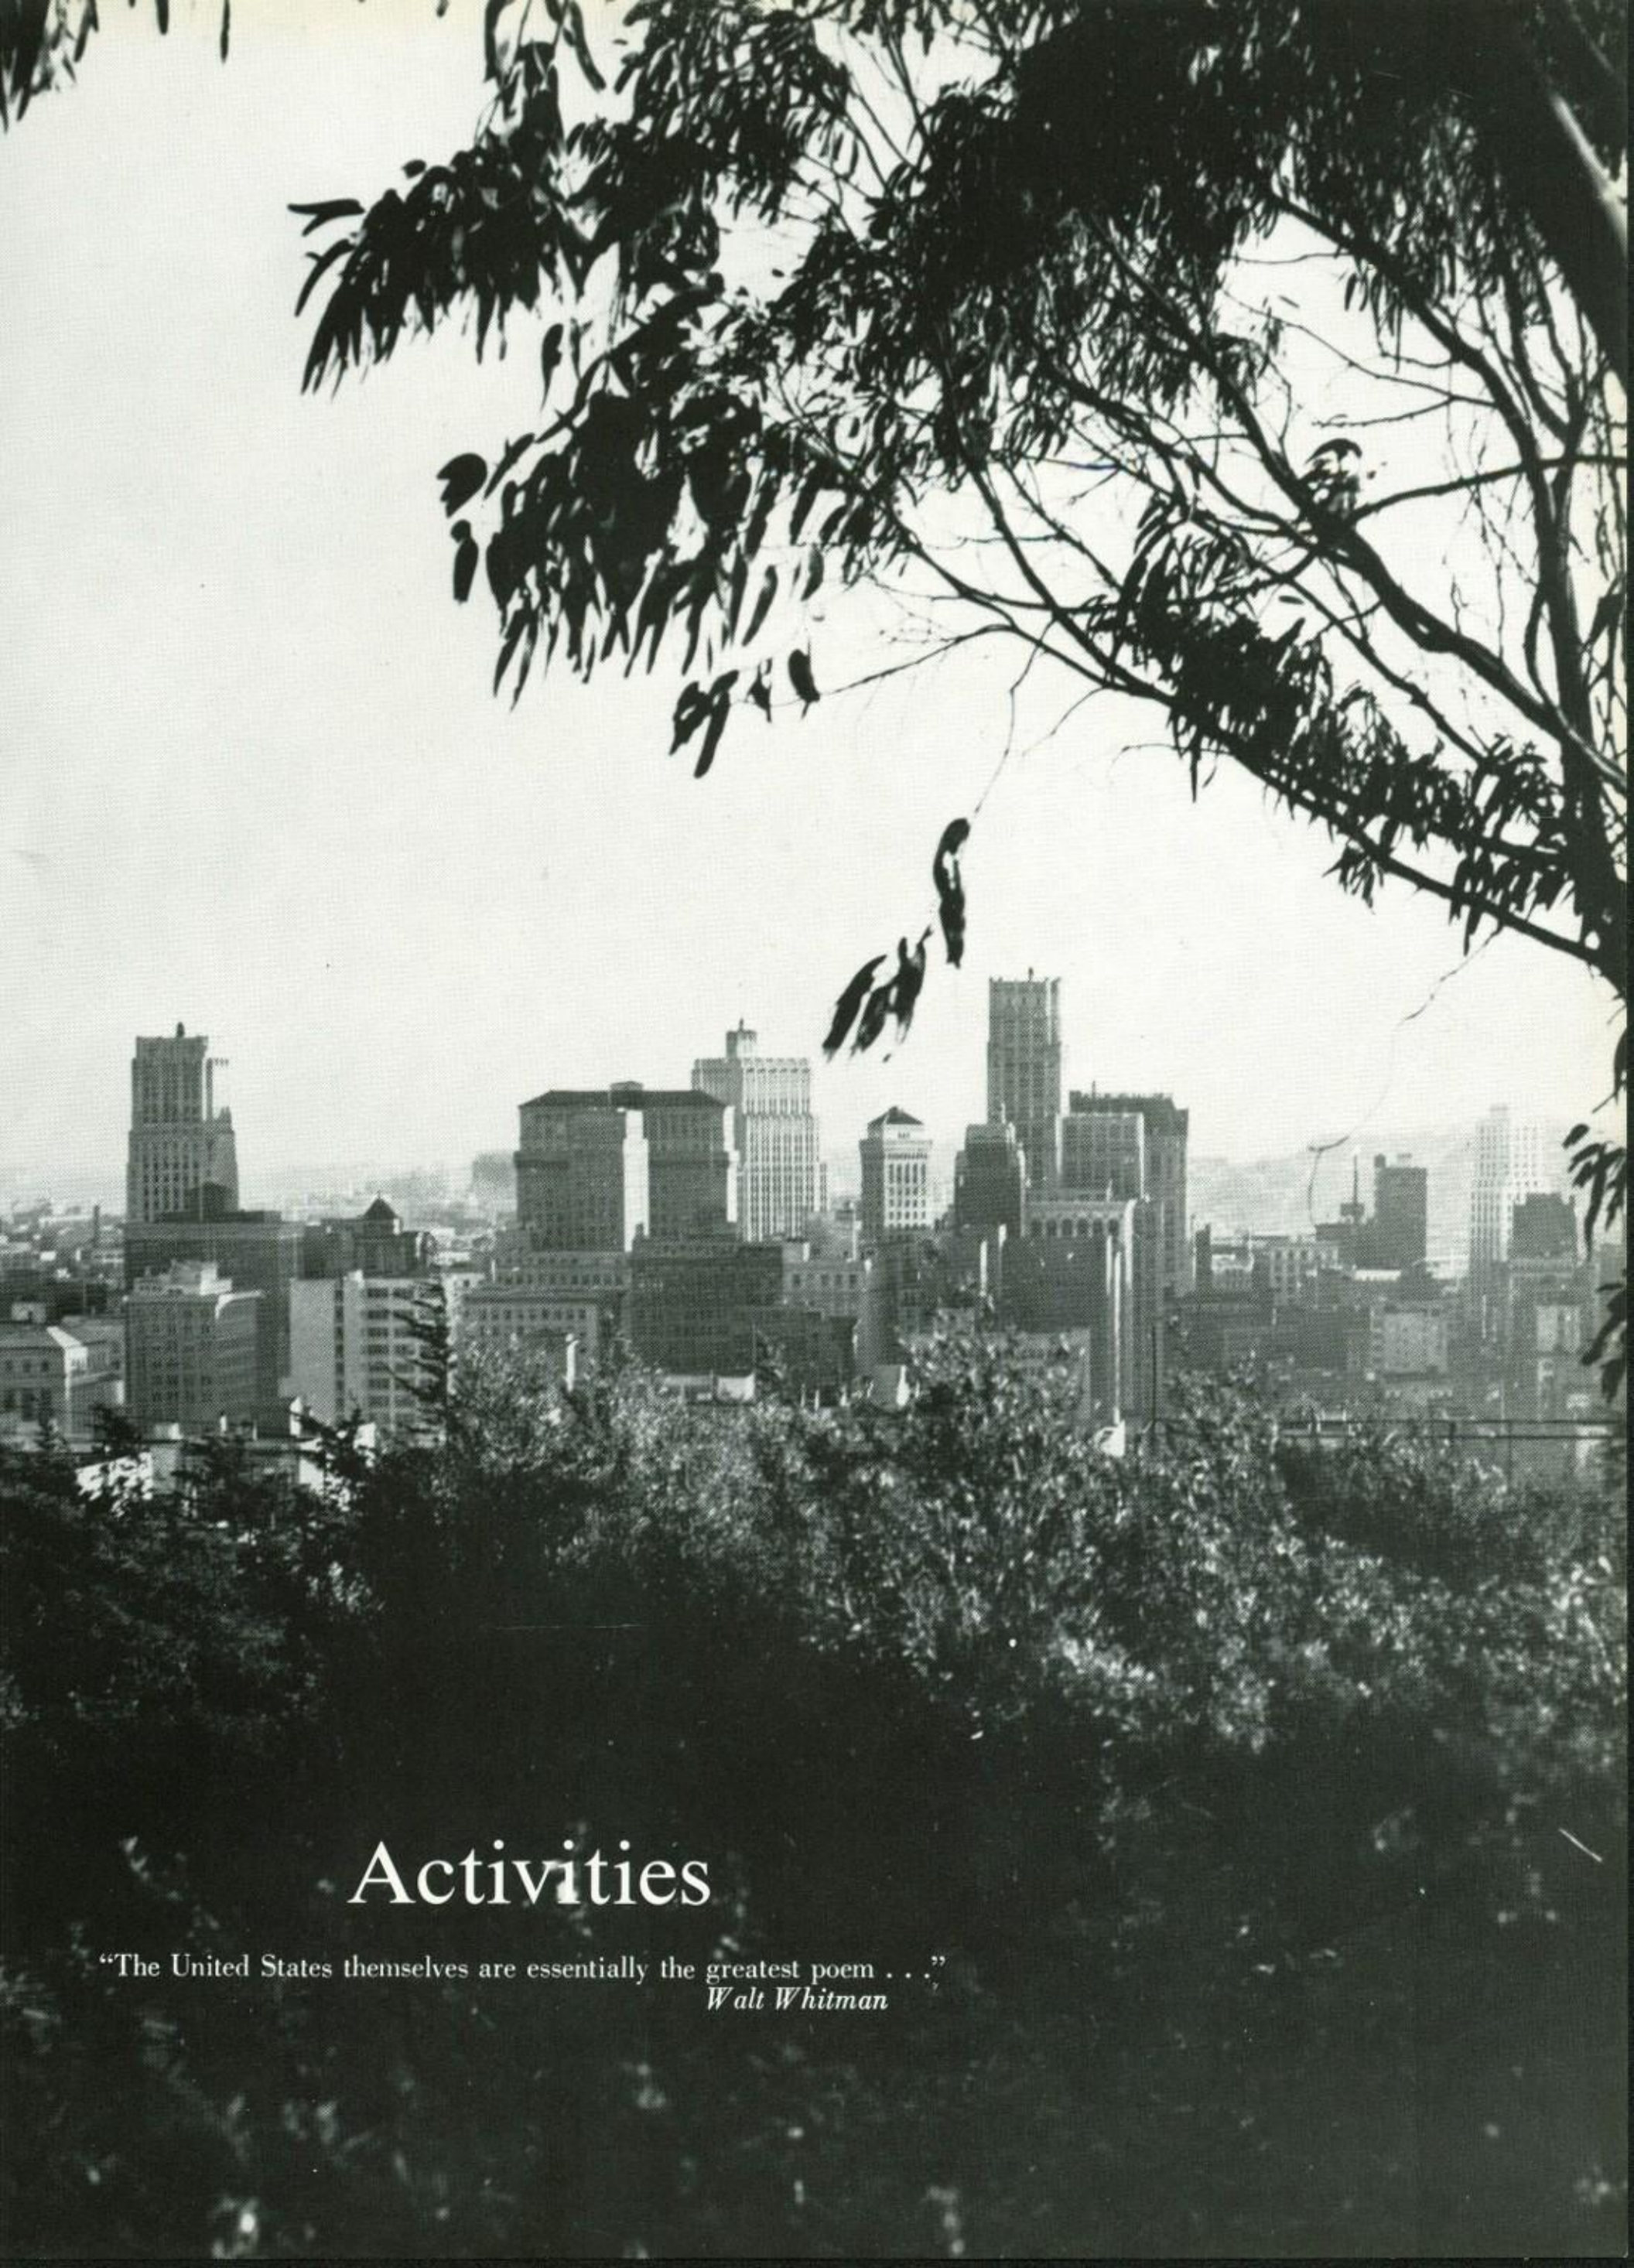

Moderator: Arthur Schiffer

The Science Club holds regular meetings to supplement factual information impossible to cover in the classroom. By this method, current research and experimentation is made known to interested and bright students. The discussions which are held sharpen each member's deductive and inductive methods of reasoning.

One of the tasks assigned to each member is the completion of a project to be presented at a local National Science Fair.

Floyd students will never be able to sufficiently thank the members of the Booster Club who so selflessly have given their time and effort to lessen the sting of austerity by making it possible to have a modified sports program. Through their activities they have endeared themselves to all Floyd students.
